1.0 Call to Order and Welcome

Board Chair Hosseini welcomed all in attendance and called the meeting to order at 9:00 a.m. He began by reminding everyone that while we may not individually understand the pain and sorrow that racist violence has brought upon Mr. George Floyd’s grieving family, we know that this violence has only deepened the historical wounds inflicted upon the African-American community, spurring grief and anger across our country and here in Florida.

We, as the trustees of the University of Florida, can and must do the hard work to ensure that this university contributes to solutions. We must be a beacon of equity, access and opportunity. We must contribute to a just and fair society while ensuring that our pathways to opportunity, access and excellence are open and welcoming to all.
We must have a personal as well as a collective stake in these critical issues and fully embrace our role in guiding the University we love so dearly in doing this meaningful work. We must listen, learn, understand, and act.

He committed to all, we will press forward in diversifying our faculty, our student body, and our staff. We will make it a priority to ensure we are briefed regularly on where we are making progress and where we are not. We will take the steps available to us as trustees to remove roadblocks and to make progress. Together, and only together, can we create a culture where equity, access, and excellence are the foundation for preparing a diverse workforce and just society that is truly representative of our great state of Florida.

Board Chair Hosseini then welcomed Governor DeSantis to the meeting. He stated that we are extremely pleased that you can join us today. On behalf of the University of Florida Board of Trustees and UF leadership, thank you for your steady and decisive guidance as we navigate these unprecedented and challenging times. Thank you as well to Lieutenant Governor Jeanette Núñez, Chief of Staff Shane Strum, State Surgeon General Dr. Scott Rivkees and the Florida Department of Health for their openness, transparency, and partnership.

We would also like to extend our gratitude to the Florida Board of Governors and to Board Chair Syd Kitson, as well as State University System Chancellor Marshall Criser III for continuing to provide solid judgment and leadership for Florida’s higher education system, which I am always proud to point out is ranked No. 1 in the nation. As you know, the Board of Governors recently approved its Blueprint for Reopening Campuses, and we at the University of Florida, in alignment with that blueprint, have now developed our own draft plan for reopening UF this fall. Since the COVID-19 pandemic arose this spring, UF’s students, faculty, and staff have worked tirelessly to maintain our very high standards in academic and research excellence and have continued their important work with resilience and determination.

Now we turn our sights toward fall and creating a safer, healthier campus environment where The Gator Nation can focus its boundless energy on fulfilling our mission and ensuring student success while also continuing to advance toward our goal of becoming a top-five public university. During the next two days, we will spend considerable time discussing and further refining our fall re-opening plan. He asked Governor DeSantis if he has any additional guidance you would like to share with us before we begin this critical work.

Governor DeSantis thanked everyone for their efforts at the University of Florida to lead the way with the state in opening back up in the fall and provided additional remarks.

2.0 Verification of Quorum
Vice President and University Secretary Kaplan verified a quorum with all members present and informed the Board of some Zoom webinar reminders.
3.0 COVID-19 Update

Board Chair Hosseini thanked Governor DeSantis for his words and support. He then thanked President Fuchs and university administration for their continued leadership. He noted the university is in good hands which you will see in the following COVID-19 update.

President Fuchs emphasized that UF never fully closed and thanked leadership for their efforts to that end. President Fuchs discussed today’s agenda for the COVID-19 update.

Senior Vice President for Health Affairs David Nelson began the COVID-19 update with the latest COVID-19 information from UF Health.

He also mentioned the COVID-19 testing research being done by UF Health.

SVP Nelson presented historical information for UF Health Shands OR (operating room) cases and UF Healths outpatient care.

SVP Nelson discussed that UF Health has learned lessons for reopening. They understand staff and faculty will have concerns about reopening. They learned that PPE, social distancing, staff rotations, and testing allowed us to keep workforce on-line, limit COVID-19 transmission, and build confidence with the public.

SVP Nelson presented the impact of social distancing, masking, and eye protection on viral transmission. He concluded the risk of infection is highly dependent on distance to the individual infected and the presence/type of face mask and eye protection worn.

SVP Nelson outlined UF Healths screen, test, and protect recommendations for students. UF Health has developed a screening questionnaire for COVID-19 symptoms and risk for all students and employees. Testing will be required for students who indicate symptoms or are considered high risk on questionnaires and all students in a clinical setting in our healthcare system. Testing will be offered to students who wish to receive a test with priority to those from “defined” hot spots. In reference to protection, students are subject to UF face-covering policy and physical distancing policy. Employees, especially vulnerable employees who come in close contact with students will be offered N95 masks and face shields for protection. He added that the recommendation includes targeted, periodic sampling of the university community, including wastewater epidemiology and student cohorts under research consent.

Deputy Director of Emerging Pathogens Institute at UF, Dr. Michael Lauzardo, detailed Screen, test, and protect guidelines. These guidelines create a unified, coordinated, evidence-based infrastructure to promote the safest possible return to work and school for UF and UF Health faculty, staff, and students. To achieve this mission existing UF resources and personnel with experience will partner with the Department of Health (DOH), UF CDC-funded Southeastern National Tuberculosis Center (SNTC), and UF College of Public Health and Health Professions. They will clear faculty and staff to work, identify cases on campus, trace and isolate their contacts, and monitor the presence of COVID-19 on campus through public health surveillance.
UF Health Chief Communications Officer Melanie Ross presented communication tools including the style guide of signage being used across campus and UF Health for symptoms, promoting masks, social distancing, hand washing, and cleaning. She introduced the screen, test, and protect website which includes a toolkit, how the initiative works, statistics, and animation. She presented advertising samples explaining their message of fostering a culture of caring that includes posters, directional floor decals, door, and mirror decals. Her presentation concluded with a video highlighting test, screen, and protect.

Trustee Stern asked how to communicate with students who do not want to wear a mask. Trustee Pope said it needs to be a social norming concept to facilitate a culture where students are aware.

Provost Glover discussed teaching and academic advising including the details about March’s instructional transition with 3,423 courses being transitioned to fully online with all experiential courses, including labs transitioning to online. In most cases, labs' hands-on component had been completed. Staff worked to ensure the circumstances did not prevent any students from graduating. Provost Glover pointed out the tremendous work by faculty, students, IT, e-learning support, and others to accomplish those results.

Vice President Zina Evans gave an update on student financial support. Aid-a-Gator funds used for student financial support total $2.6M, which include $1.4 M from Provost funds and $500K from the Foundation, through donor contributions. As of April 2020, 2,246 students have received $1.9M for things like food, rent, travel back home, etc.

CARES Act Grants funds total $15.5M. Prior to disbursing CARES Act funds students were categorized into two groups based on FAFSA submissions and Expected Family Contribution (EFC). Awards for group 1 paid up to $1,050 and group 2 up to $1000. In total, funds have been disbursed as follows: group 1 has received $9.9M for 10,402 students and group 2 has received $1.2M for 1,394 students. As of June 1st, the total Cares Act funding disbursed $11.1 M to 11,796 students. Also, there are 1,783 Federal Emergency Applications have been submitted and are still under review.

Additional Aid-a-Gator activity for students not eligible for CARES Act funds included $173K disbursed to 182 students. There are 1,411 applications submitted that still need to be reviewed.

Vice President for Student Affairs D’Andra Mull indicated that student affairs has continued to provide comprehensive excellence in student care, support, and engagement. Students are actively participating in campus life and using resources despite their distance. VP Mull reviewed the percentage of students still living on campus and reviewed the number of students who have taken advantage of food distribution, the Counseling and Wellness Center. She announced that a virtual student union website was built where services are temporarily delivered digitally. The website offers engagement opportunities including virtual fitness classes, wellness coaching, career planning appointments, workshops, and career fairs. Additionally, students are finding community through student organizations, leadership development, and student events.
President Fuchs highlighted the research enterprise. He again emphasized that UF did not close. There was a lot of research that was able to continue. As we move forward, we will be restarting the rest.

Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer Charlie Lane presented on the state of the campus environment. He reiterated that over the last two months the leadership team has a regular COVID-19 call. SVP Lane reviewed the COVID-19 scorecard which is prepared daily to track employee testing, facemask inventory, hand sanitizer inventory, and facilities preparation including signage, sanitizer stations, and plexiglass partitions. He emphasized the benefit UF has had by purchasing COVID supplies centrally. SVP Lane also mentioned that there continues to be Zoom video conferencing growth in the number of new users and the number of minutes used.

Vice President for Human Resources Jodi Gentry pointed out that throughout the COVID-19 outbreak UF had more than 7,000 UF employees working on campus. She discussed business continuity efforts with faculty and staff specifically reviewing a hiring pause, an expanded leave program, Aid-A-Gator for faculty and staff, and the staff retirement incentive.

VP Gentry referred to UFHR communications strategy which implemented a daily UF at Work e-newsletter covering ongoing efforts related to COVID-19, promoting a sense of community, and preparing employees for a return to full-scale on-campus operations.

VP Gentry revealed that UFHR has developed and implemented an institutional recovery and COVID-19 screening return to workplace policy including a return to workplace scenario-based matrix. The matrix encompasses each possible screening scenario, guidance for each scenario, corresponding contact information, and the related UF policy for each. A return to the workplace matrix was also prepared for vulnerable population scenarios.

VP Gentry indicated that UFHR, working in concert with UF Health and UFIT, launched a testing strategy. They have targeted 26,000 screening/testing to be completed by the end of June, which will occur in phases. The strategy emphasizes physical distancing and other safety precautions. UF employee testing efforts are ramping up.

VP Gentry also mentioned that UFHR has implemented a childcare taskforce for working parents and following CDC guidelines, reopened Baby Gator Child Development Centers. First focusing on children of health care providers and first responders. UFHR has offered multiple virtual training opportunities to UF staff. They also are preparing workplace safety training, working with Environmental Health and Safety and UF Health.

Director of Athletics Scott Stricklin gave an update on the state of the University Athletic Association. They have been working with guidance from the following: UF Health and UF leadership, on the state level with health officials and state University system, SEC and SEC Medical Guidance Task Force, and the NCAA. UAA is not the decision-maker or the predictor. They are, however, preparing for multiple scenarios. Athletes return to campus, the SEC is allowing voluntary, for in-person workouts beginning June 8. Returning athletes and staff will participate in UF Health’s screen, test, and protect program. Athletes will return slowly, in stages, throughout the summer. Regrading return to athletics competition, UAA is preparing as though we will play athletics events as scheduled. The goals are to accommodate as many fans as UF Health and state health officials deem appropriate. The first scheduled date of competition is soccer-August 21, volleyball-August 28, and football-September 5. He concluded by stating that we have come a long way in three months. In the next three months, there will be a lot of changes, so we will see where we are in mid-August.

Trustee O’Keefe asked when a decision be made on fans attending. Stricklin said they are being patient as possible and expect early to mid-August for a decision to be made. Staff is modeling various scenarios. He indicated they have been working closely with UF Health. They want to be realistic and know that a lot can change between now and a couple of months from now.

Board Chair Hosseini thanked everyone involved for the COVID-19 update and opened the meeting up for questions.

Trustee Zucker commended everyone for fabulous work. She asked if we were doing away with the Fall break to keep students home after the Thanksgiving break. Provost Glover responded they moved the Fall start date to August 31 to cut down a week of the instruction period. Deans will be asked to make any activities after the holiday not require a physical presence. Chair Hosseini added there are a minimum number of instruction days required by SACS.

Trustee Doré asked if there was any retirement incentive. Vice President Gentry indicated Deans would receive information in the next week or so.

Chair Hosseini asked Trustee Doré what the faculty think of the draft plan. Trustee Doré indicated it was presented to the Faculty Senate Welfare Council. It was well received and much thought was given to process and health concerns. Chair Hosseini said be assured this Board will make the faculty as safe as possible.

4.0 UF Reopening Plan
Board Chair Hosseini turned the Board’s attention to UF’s reopening plan.

President Fuchs introduced the UF reopening strategy based on the SUS Blueprint for Reopening for state university campuses adopted by the Florida Board of Governors (BOG). The Blueprint will guide each university’s specific plan which is due to the BOG by June 12. The BOG recognizes that each university’s mission and capabilities are different.

President Fuchs also acknowledged that UF’s plan may evolve before the June 12 submission based on trustees' input and feedback from faculty, UF students and families, and the broader community. UF is inviting public comment through a website and dedicated e-mailbox, as well as direct discussions with the Faculty Senate.

Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer Charlie Lane gave an overview of UF’s institutional recovery framework. He began by reviewing the timeline for UF’s plan starting with today’s presentation to the UF Board of Trustees, June 12 submission deadline to the BOG, to June 23 when UF’s plan will be presented to the BOG. He stressed to Trustees that when they vote on this plan tomorrow, they will be asked to allow for updates to be made to the plan up to the BOG deadline.

SVP Lane reiterated, as President Fuchs pointed out, UF has been very transparent of its plan by making it widely available on the UF website, providing an opportunity for public input, as well as feedback from deans and the Faculty Senate.

SVP Lane pointed out that the SUS blueprint includes 5 critical elements: a healthy campus environment, a healthy community environment, COVID-19 virus testing, contact tracing and surveillance, and academic program delivery.

SVP Lane reminded Trustees as discussed at our April meeting, UF had begun preparing a COVID-19 recovery framework. The University recovery framework has been created and considers five primary areas of focus, accompanied by 11 issues to address, which have been assigned to task forces. The 11 task forces have helped develop UF’s plan and informed our proposal for the Board of Governors.

SVP Lane called on a few task force leaders to briefly summarize their work.

Vice President for Student Affairs D’Andra Mull discussed student affairs behavioral expectations for reopening. Their task is to change the socio-cultural norms associated with the use of PPE, increased hygiene, reduction in risky behavior, and physical distancing. They will educate students on why and focus on “do” instead of “do not.” They will engage initiatives that support behavioral expectations through messaging, training, and engagement initiatives that support our expectations for the campus community. They are developing a three-tiered response centered on education to promote adherence and adoption of healthy behaviors.

Vice President and General Counsel Amy Hass reviewed University regulations and policy, as it relates to draft submission to the Board of Governors.

Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer Charlie Lane gave an overview of a healthy campus and community environment. He began by discussing a comprehensive approach to reopening through UF Health’s screen, test, and protect for employees and students. The approach includes CDC guided behavioral expectations, enhanced facility protocol and cleaning, comprehensive communications, and supporting policies via UFHR and the student code of conduct.

SVP Lane reviewed UF’s return to campus employee journey, which typically takes 5 days. The journey starts on day 1 by determining eligibility, screening, testing, receiving results, and ends on day 5 with employees being marked clear to return to work. He also included a sample of the UF screening questionnaire and the corresponding testing appointment schedule that employees receive. He added that employees receive a UF branded cloth mask and disposable masks at their screening. SVP Lane presented a picture of the testing site that has been set up to handle 1,000 staff and student testing a day with AC, wireless coverage, and clear signage.

SVP Lane mentioned the enhanced facility cleaning using CDC-approved protocols, disinfecting buildings with CDC approved cleaning systems, as well as cleaning common touchpoints like doorknobs with CDC approved disinfectants.

SVP Lane revealed the on-campus housing plan as it relates to isolation/quarantine. The only significant change to on-campus housing occupancy is that 111 rooms that normally house 3 students (triples) will only house 2 students. In the fall, there will be 15 on-campus apartments and 18 rooms at the Reitz Union Hotel for on-campus students who need isolation/quarantine. Student Affairs and UF Emergency Management have expanded off-campus isolation/quarantine hotel options through FEMA approved non-congregate sheltering (NCS) plan. COVID-19 accommodations for those with disabilities and those who are considered high-risk have also been considered. UF’s ADA office, when possible, plans provide specialized PPE, such as face shields, to accommodate these individuals.

SVP Lane presented a communications strategy task force timeline broken into seven phases. The first phase, which has been completed, our immediate response as we learned about COVID through phase 6, the arrival and social norming of our student. We are currently in phase 2, working on our recovery development. Phase 3 is next and includes approvals by the BOT and BOG, which will be followed by our implementation and preparing for students return. The final phase 7 will continue through the end of the year and there will be on-going communications and messaging. Communication will include UF Health’s screen, test and protect communications campaign, which includes messaging about wearing facemasks, washing hands, social distancing, etc.

Senior Vice President for Health Affairs David Nelson reiterated as previously discussed, we will continue all efforts to screen, test, and protect and prepare for student return. He indicated that they would continue to work with medical and public health guidance, engagement with UF stakeholders, and the board of Trustees and Board of Governors.

Provost Joe Glover discussed academic program delivery with the primary goal to assure that as many students as possible can make appropriate academic progress toward graduation, minimize the risk of a significant flare-up of COVID-19, and assure the continued operational and financial stability of UF if there is a significant flare-up of COVID-19.

Provost Glover reviewed the fall instructional configuration. He indicated that they are working with Deans of each college and unit reconfiguring classes according to safety protocols for staff and students. Once complete, they will have to have students check to be sure their schedules are accurate without multiples classes at the same time since students had signed up for classes before COVID.
Provost Glover led the Board through this exercise using CALs as an example. The College of Agricultural and Life Sciences (CALS) has 23 undergraduate (UG) and graduate majors with 14 academic departments in 2 schools. Undergraduate students in 2+2 programs are at 4 locations and Graduate students engaging in research are at 12 Research and Education Centers. By graduation, 80% of UGs have at least one of the following experiences: undergraduate research, an internship, or the opportunity to study abroad. After reviewing all courses, classrooms, and considering guidelines, in the fall (for the fall 2020 semester) CALS undergraduate program will have 379 courses and 755 unique sections. These courses will be available in four categories: individual study, hybrid courses, online – synchronous, and online – asynchronous. There will be 83 fall individual study courses with 137 unique sections.

Individual study courses include research, internship, co-op experience, individual study, practicum, extension experience, etc. They are important to the curricular and co-curricular experiences of students. They will be offered as individually mentored experiences, consistent with public health measures. These courses will be in-person experiences (face-to-face).

Hybrid courses may have laboratories or field experiences involving live animals, teaching gardens, etc. In the fall there will be 53 CALS hybrid courses with 103 unique sections. Hybrid courses will include lecture materials to be delivered online, laboratory/field experiences conducted face-to-face, and a small number of courses without laboratories (such as leadership courses) will also be delivered face-to-face.

Nearly half of UG courses in fall will be delivered synchronous online, with 157 courses offered in 238 unique sections. They will include some “experiential courses” e.g. some Microbiology & Cell Science labs. Students will purchase a lab kit and meet virtually to see lab instructor demonstrations and then perform experiments themselves.

In the fall there will be 86 online – asynchronous courses with 232 unique sections. These courses were designed from the outset for online delivery using UF+Quality Matters standards. UF+Quality Matters standards are guidelines developed by UF’s Quality Assurance Committee for ensuring we offer quality online learning experiences to students. These standards are regularly updated to reflect changes and improvements in online education., These guidelines provide a framework for development, self-review, and peer review of online courses. Several of these courses have received awards for course design. Faculty who routinely teach these courses have been recognized at UF and nationally for their creativity and effectiveness in teaching online.

UF will also offer multiple co-curricular experiences for the UG programs with signature programs to continue in face-to-face and hybrid models all while practicing all safety protocols. Co-curricular experiences include the CALS Ambassador Team, CALS Leadership Institute, CALS Honors Certificate Program. Professional development and career services programs will continue. Clubs and organizations will continue to meet either online or in large outdoor spaces to allow for physical distancing. Volunteers and interns will be allowed to work at the Field & Fork Farm and Gardens. Competitive teams will resume in the fall including the Institute of Food Technologists College Bowl and judging teams in the Department of Animal Sciences.
Additionally, the UG research, volunteer positions, extension internships, etc. will also resume. Provost Glover also mentioned that in the fall UG advising will be a blend of remote and in-person.

As for graduate programs, there will be master and doctoral degrees in 23 majors across 14 departments and 2 schools, including 8 online master’s degrees. Most programs have students located at Research and Education Centers. All programs plan to be a mixture of face-to-face, hybrid, and online instruction.

Co-curricular experiences for graduate programs will resume in the fall, as well. Graduate programs include the following: student organizations, peer mentoring, professional development programs, seminar series, community outreach, and research mentoring.

Provost Glover pointed out that CALS also has several high-quality programs that will continue in the fall. CALS has a long history of supporting teaching excellence through its Teaching Resource Center and Center for Online Learning and Technology. Programs and workshops offered, such as the annual Teaching Enhancement Symposium, emphasize active learning strategies and other pedagogical techniques to promote student engagement in face-to-face and online classroom.

Provost Glover completed his presentation by indicating that situations are different for every college. Deans have even been supporting and encouraging offering classes outside. He noted that many professors have already been staking out outdoor spaces on campus and are preparing to have canopies hung for shade.

Provost Glover provided information on a new initiative that everyone will hear more about soon, something very exciting for UF. UF will be the world’s first higher education institution to acquire the new NVIDIA DGX™ A100, the world’s most advanced Artificial Intelligence (AI) system. This significant step in the university’s bold initiative to become a national leader in the application of AI, an expansive plan that will elevate UF in research, teaching, and workforce development. The initiative includes a commitment from UF to hire 100 faculty members across disciplines. A data science major will be offered for the first time this fall. They will integrate AI into teaching across academic majors, creating the next generation AI-enabled workforce. UF’s commitment to the future of AI will raise the university’s national profile and position it as a global leader in a technology revolution that will transform the way we live, work and interact with the world around us. It could very well become UF’s defining moment. The initiative has generated enthusiasm across UF. AI will be integrated across academic curricula, offer new opportunities for workforce partnerships, and raise UF’s national research profile.

Trustee Powers asked how difficult will it be to find faculty in this area? Provost Glover indicated that we believe this will be very attractive to many and it won’t be an issue. We will have the best academics and infrastructure. UF has invested millions to update HiPerGator.

Vice Chair Kuntz added this puts UF in a completely different place.

4.0 Discussion Items

4.1 Key Performance Indicators
Chair Stern stated all the progress we’re going to review with you today as well the rising momentum of our brand and positioning strategy development are integrated initiatives all driving to our central goal—to advance the reputation of our university.

I’ll turn to Nancy who will briefly describe the significant progress we’re making against our set forth key performance indicators.

Vice President Paton thanked the committee for their continued support. She then provided a review of the first quarter Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) beginning with the executive dashboard.

Organic search volume increased in Q1 from Q4.

Earned media share of voice increased to 15.4% from 14.9% from Q4 and we have moved our position to number three from number four against peers.

The Conversation activity increased in the first quarter to 781,239 from 457,661 in quarter four.

Positive earned media sentiment decreased due to an increase in neutral posts/mentions, not an increase in negative posts.

Social media share of voice decreased by 15.2%. Social media sentiment increased by 153% from quarter four VP Paton stated this is an important metric as it indicates the university’s storytelling and engagement efforts are creating a higher level of advocacy.

VP Paton stated that she was very pleased with the performance results on the KPI.

She then reviewed the detailed KPI dashboards for earned media, social media and web performance.

In earned media, reach numbers increased from 558.6M to 924.4M indicating the level of high influence of the media outlets in which we’re seeing success in telling our stories. Important to note that the number of articles, while important on an ongoing basis for team productivity, is not as critical as the reach.

Media value generated indicates the advertising value of the articles. Media value increased from $3M in the fourth quarter to $4.75M in quarter one.

In the first quarter, UF is strengthened its performance in earned media share of voice, with an increase of 17.2% from quarter four. This performance moved UF up to third amongst peer group.
The Conversation reach increased slightly from 457.7K to 781.2K. UF is currently in second place among peers.

On social media platforms, UF continues to be a leader in higher education. In this first quarter, UF has moved from third to second place among peers on each institutional social media channel in terms of engagement metrics. This dominant presence indicates that the university is not only increasingly relevant to younger audiences but to all audiences. UF also remains a leader in the social space outside the higher education sector.

Website metrics indicated a visitor increase by 16.4% in from quarter one to quarter four. VP Paton stated the website is growing as a trusted source of information and advice.

Bounce rates have decreased this quarter by 5.4% and the average time on page also jumped up by 1.3% in quarter one.

Out-of-state users generate 30.8% of the traffic while in-state users generate 69.2%. Georgia is number one with Washington State coming in second place.

VP Paton stated the most important thing when reviewing the Campaign Dashboard is to understand if the message, the stories that UF is telling, and the channels the university is advertising on are generating desired results with targeted audiences.

With a goal of improving University of Florida’s awareness and reputation, two marketing campaigns were launched during Spring 2020. As these campaigns are still in market, the first quarter statistics are indicative of results for one month.

The private and public peer group targets (specifically Top 15 universities) had the highest engagement with digital display, seeing an average CTR of 2.9% a significant increase over the total fall results of 0.34%. VP Paton stated the way in which the university is sharing stories is having a greater impact.

LinkedIn generated strong engagement across our targeted peer audiences. Average CTR was 61%, which was 146% higher than the CTR generated by the fall campaign (0.1%). 45% of impressions and clicks generated were by senior-level higher ed audiences.

NPR also generated strong awareness among our target audiences. Performance exceeded fall impression results demonstrating that the campaign reached our desired audience of higher education leaders.

4.2 COVID Communications
Chair Stern thanked Vice President Paton. He stated these quarterly performance metrics indicate that the university is on a trajectory of growth in important channels that reach key audiences. And, that the messaging is resonating with people so much so that they enter into an engaged relationship with the university.
Chair Stern reinforced Strategic Communications and Marketing’s role in keeping audiences informed with critical resources and content. The team has anticipated different scenarios and created a cohesive messaging strategy.

VP Paton stated that the SCM focus initially was on quickly and effectively delivering critical information to the campus community about how the university was responding to the pandemic.

The team created a website to house major operational announcements, FAQs and a page dedicated to daily updates on positive COVID-19 cases among students, faculty and staff. The COVID-19 website went live on Feb. 18. From Feb. 18 to today, the main COVID page has received 317,301 views.

A newly established integrated campus communicators group has been established that meets weekly to integrate information and communications related to COVID-19.

UF Strategic Communications and Marketing is identifying faculty experts to pitch to national media as thought leaders and trusted sources.

VP Paton stated that communications focus has expressed gratitude to the UF community for its response to the pandemic and highlighted inspirational stories about student, faculty and staff contributions and efforts. And overall messaging has focused on:

- Inform and keep safe
- Finish strong
- Express gratitude
- Build great will

Communications strategy will be moving forward over the next months to creating and implementing a comprehensive communications plan focused on UF’s reopening efforts.

Initiated a redesign of the COVID-19 website aimed at improving access and streamlining content and preparing for our reopening-related communications. The university’s updated COVID-19 debuted yesterday, June 3.

There has been a continued focus on positioning faculty experts in national media and positioned our leadership in statewide media expressing points of view on the optimism surrounding UF’s and higher ed’s future post-pandemic.

To gauge the effectiveness of current efforts and provide foundational guidance to future communications strategy, a review of SCM’s COVID-19 communications effectiveness was conducted.

Based on the metrics reviewed, UF has mitigated reputational risk, delivered important information and created positive brand moments throughout the COVID-19 pandemic.

Of the peer group of Top Public Universities, UF ranked 5th for faculty expert coverage in high profile news outlets.
• These outlets have cited our faculty experts on a range of COVID-19 topics, from biostatistics to political science to educational technology.

UF experts have generated vast exposure; articles featuring experts have seen more than 4.5M engagements on social media (almost twice as many as the total number of engagements for the second half of 2019 – 2.4M)

UF’s crucial research, particularly around DIY ventilators, masks, and at-home tests have been featured by influential individuals on social media and high-profile news outlets alike. This coverage has driven hundreds of thousands of engagements on social media.

UF’s thoughtful and creative approach to social media has set the standard among Top Public universities for engaging audiences.

UF has generated almost double the number of engagements on average on its social media posts than any of the Top 5 Public Institutions. These impressive engagement numbers have been spread across UF’s primary channels, Facebook, Instagram, and Twitter.

Our COVID-19 web resources have provided the UF community with valuable and trustworthy information; COVID-specific resource pages have driven more than 990k sessions.

Chair Stern thanked VP Paton, stating the COVID communications have played an important role in guiding the university through this pandemic.

4.3 Spring Reputation Campaign
Chair Stern stated VP Paton would walk the committee through the underlying strategy of the reputation campaign and exciting new initiatives planned for the important spring voting season.

VP Paton thanked Chair Stern. The 2019-20 strategy centers on implementing innovative media tactics aimed at advancing the University’s reputation and rankings goals.

Overarching Goal: Advance UF’s Reputation and Rankings • Strategy:
  o Leverage the power and reach of UF’s earned and owned channels
  o Utilize channels that reach our specific audiences, i.e. LinkedIn o Tell stories that demonstrate our academic excellence, research impact, student outcomes and campus experience
  o Innovate our strategy through the creation of new channels that effectively reach and engage both internal and external audiences
  o Creation of “Unstoppable Minds” UF’s podcast series

VP Paton stated the cornerstone of the Spring Campaign is the podcast series which features stories that directly correlate with reputation drivers in an authentic and intimate way that resonates with listeners. These stories highlight members of the UF community who have overcome adversity and persevered in the face of seemingly insurmountable odds.
4.4 Brand Strategy Update
Chair Stern mentioned that the March Board of Trustees meeting presentation from Simpson Scarborough offered important comparisons from our peers and mentioned the presentation was sent out to the trustees. Chair Stern stated the brand campaign is the number one initiative. VP Paton provided an update on the strategy development’s next phrase.

Moving forward, research will be conducted to determine current reputation and positioning among university-affiliated audiences, statewide and national geographic and influencer representatives.

The survey will launch in the field the week of July 6.

Chair Hosseini asked VP Paton how we are doing with the 100 new colleges added to the US News and World Report voting. VP Paton answered that we have targeted the new colleges and via digital advertising and social media. Trustee O’Keefe asked what the messaging to the 100 colleges is. VP Paton stated we are targeting messaging on academic excellence, academic innovation, student success and university impact. Trustee Patel stated the university needs to centralize messaging, that departments and colleges are sending out different messages and we need to be one UF. Chair Stern agreed that we need to be centralized and be one UF. Chair Hosseini stated it is very important for the numbers to increase so our reputation scores increase, and the university moves to Top 5. VP Paton stated all indicators show our reputation score should increase.

Vice President Mitchell shared that it was a great pleasure to report on some of these incredible gifts that we’ve received across the campus since our last meeting.
Jon and Melanie Antevy
Jon and Melanie Antevy made a gift of $5 million to support renovations to the Architecture Building in the College of Design, Construction and Planning.

Regards and congratulations to Dean Anumba and the College of DCP and also to Trustee Brandon who helped us with this gift.

Johnson Scholarship Foundation
We recently received a challenge gift of $2 million from the Johnson Scholarship Foundation to support the Machen Florida Opportunity Scholars Program. Vice President Evans has done a lot of heavy lifting for us in this space, and it’s a point of light across the campus. This is a match gift with the goal of reaching $8 million for MFOS over the next five years. A week after we received this gift, we contacted one of our alums, and they have agreed to provide a $2 million gift to match this challenge, so we’ve already reached $4 million toward this wonderful gift.

Our congratulations to Vice President Evans and her colleagues.

Sam and Robbie Vickers
We recently confirmed a gift from Sam and Robbie Vickers who have committed their Florida Art Collection, comprised of over 1,200 pieces. This is one of the largest collections in the state and probably in the nation. The Vickerses have been collecting Florida art for over 50 years, and it has been their lifelong dream and passion to gift the collection to the state’s flagship university so future generations can learn about the history of Florida through visual art.

Sam and Robbie asked that each of the trustees be presented with a book (placed at their seats) that celebrates their Florida art and highlights many of the pieces in their collection. The Vickerses personalized the books with notes to each of the trustees expressing their thanks and gratitude.

The Marcus Foundation
The Marcus Foundation is no stranger to UF. This recent $12.5 million gift will support the Veterans Brain Health Initiative at UF Health Jacksonville. This is a comprehensive rehabilitation program focused on assessing and treating discharged U.S. military service members with mild to moderate brain injuries, concussions and other health concerns. The gift will expand this initiative’s ability to diagnose and treat patients with traumatic brain injuries.

Our thanks to Leon Haley and our UF Health leadership for this wonderful gift.

Two Additional Gifts
We have received two additional gifts this week that are not on this morning’s slides.
Ken and Linda McGurn
Ken and Linda, our campaign co-chairs, have topped off the Florida Museum of Natural History project. This is the Earth Systems Science project that Vice President Reynolds talked about yesterday. The McGurns have provided a gift of $3 million to complete the private gift portion for that project.

College of Medicine
Our congratulations to David Nelson and Ed Jimenez on receiving notification about a gift of $10 million to support the College of Medicine. We’ll hear more about that in the coming weeks.

At Trustee Heavener’s request, Vice President Mitchell introduced the next speaker. Talk about impact at UF, talk about the Warrington College of Business (WCB) and talk about John Kraft, our dean. He will be completing his tenure at the end of July after having served UF in the capacity of Dean of the WCB for over 30 years. He has led three campaigns and has named everything he could possibly name in and around the WCB, except for the air space above the WCB. Although the air space is still unnamed, he is working on it. Welcome to Dean John Kraft.

4.3 Go Greater Campaign Impact – Warrington College of Business
In response to the standing ovation, Dean Kraft remarked that the faculty also stand when he enters a room. He noted that there’s a $20 million price tag for the campus air space above WCB, if anyone is interested, and then he went on to talk about the importance of faculty support to the campaign.

This started in the early days when Al Warrington made his original gift to name the college. The focus was on faculty support and that made all the difference. Al left the decision as to who the faculty would be up to the WCB leadership. The key priority has always been faculty support.

The WCB has an endowment value of $242 million, and of that number, almost all of it goes toward faculty support and other things. In addition, there’s another $130 - $140 million in deferred gifts that we will get later on at some point, so we’re in pretty good shape.

The way we use our faculty support is based on the idea that we want to attract high-level performing junior faculty, keep them as they remain with us over x number of years and provide them with the resources they need to be successful. Over the past 30 years, we’ve hired about 160 tenure-track faculty, but only 8 have been at the senior ranks. Of those 8, only 4 have actually received chairs or professorships when they came to us. We’re really focused on bringing in high-quality junior faculty and allowing them to compete. A number of those stay with us, and we want to advance them through their careers. Normally, when we bring in an assistant professor, only 1 in 5 is tenured. We don’t deny them tenure, but instead, we give them signals early on because their careers just haven’t progressed as we would have liked. Some of them have gone on to get tenured positions in other schools, but they continue to represent our legacy. Although they weren’t successful with us, they went on to become successful. People who are with us tend to remain with us over a very long time. We’ve had about 50 people get matching offers from peer schools or better, but because of our professorships and faculty support, we’ve been able to retain all but 8 of those people. Faculty support is key to our performance.

Dean Kraft remarked that this is the first time he’s seen the Warrington brochure, and then went on to highlight some key things that are important:

- Al and Judy Warrington are key to what we’ve done
- 70 tenure-track faculty
- 59 chairs, professorships and fellowships
- Almost all tenured faculty would have some type of name/title which gives them resources beyond what we can provide them
- 8 additional endowments to support faculty
- Mo Wang, at age 40, is probably our most distinguished, high-performance professor
  - He’s ranked #1 or #2 in major business journals
  - We hired him with tenure, and he came in as an associate professor in the psychology department
- We have the highest percentage of non-business PhDs – economists, operation researchers, physicists, etc. – lots of people who have successfully crossed over into business all because we found ways to retain them with faculty support
- The campaign’s focus on endowment has allowed us to retain these people over time

Dean Kraft introduced the WCB impact video and then announced a gift from former faculty member Eugene Brigham, who was ultra-successful in his academic career as well as in outside investments in other areas. He’s given over $22 million to the WCB, and his recent gift resulted in the naming of the Finance Department.

Eugene Brigham’s gift supports student activities outside the classroom. He firmly believes in making the environment outside the classroom as important as what the students learn in the classroom. That involves a wide range of activities that help students in finance get better and have the resources they need to be successful outside the classroom. It’s not quite a faculty naming gift because he had a named professorship that allowed us to bring him here, but he’s been involved and engaged with the faculty ever since. We are expecting all the people who have chaired to do the same thing. Thank you all for listening, and good luck.

Board Chair Hosseini thanked Dean Kraft on behalf of the BOT for all his good work in running the business school over years and years. We appreciate it, and you have made us proud. Dean Kraft remarked that he had lots of talented people working for him.
Vice President Mitchell thanked Dean Kraft and shared that the dean had chaired the search that brought him to Florida, as well as the search for Vice President Lane. We owe Dean Kraft a deep gratitude and appreciation. Not only has he made a difference but he has also positioned the WCB for next and has impacted many students. When we started this idea of being among the very best institutions in the country, the WCB was our top-ranked college. All of the other colleges started moving up in the rankings, and it all started with the WCB. They were the point of light for all of us, and we appreciate the impact, advice and counsel of Dean John Kraft.

4.4 FY21 Forecast and Beyond
Vice President Mitchell presented the next two slides on the forecast for FY21.

$3B+ Go Greater Campaign
We think we’ll be at $2.64 billion by the end of this month, and it wouldn’t be surprising to see us reach $2.65 billion, as it looks like we could close another $25 - $30 million by June 30. If that’s the case, that would leave us $350 million short of the campaign goal. The first six years of the campaign, we were averaging $425 million per year. It looks as if we’ll hit $3 billion this next fiscal year. We’re tracking 13 months ahead of schedule (October 2022).

$460 Million Total Commitments
Even though we’re not quite sure of the outcome this year, we continue to stretch ourselves a bit and have not moved off of our goal of $460 million. We believe we’ll reach it or exceed it.

19% APR
We’ve moved one more notch in the alumni participation rate (APR) journey. This started with Trustee Patel and the UF Alumni Association. Trustee Rosenberg provided wonderful encouragement and then it moved to UFAA Past Presidents Karen Unger and Brian Burgoon. Each year we moved it by 1%, and we’re hopeful we can get it to 19% this year.

Vice President Mitchell shared that he fondly remembers the call from Provost Glover regarding the APR numbers being down at 12% to which he had responded that we were trying to raise $3 billion and didn’t really care much about the APR. Provost Glover informed him that he did, in fact, care a lot about it now and asked when he would have a plan to address it. In response to Provost Glover, we put together a team of people, and thanks to the generosity of Gators all over the world, we think we’ll reach 19%. This will put us among the top 3-4 public institutions across the nation, so now we thank Provost Glover for his call.

Board Chair Hosseini asked where we would be at 20% APR. Vice President Mitchell responded that this would put us among the top 1 or 2 in the nation – the gold standard – but that’s next year when we go from 19% to 20%.
Your Ideas/Innovation/A.I. University
The campaign theme for FY21 is your ideas, innovation and A.I. University. We have incredible momentum with this A.I. initiative, thanks to President Fuchs, Provost Glover, Vice President Norton and a number of people who are doing some heavy lifting on this. This is something unique, special and different in the world of universities, and it’s an opportunity for us to claim our stake. Trustee Heavener will be the campaign co-chair for the last year of the campaign, and he will lead the effort, along with President Fuchs and all of the other trustees.

Digital Communications Platform
We’re moving heavily into a digital communications platform. As you might imagine, just about everything has a digital platform, and we are already moving events into salon platforms. Deans, faculty members and UF leaders are working closely with our alumni people and looking at virtual tailgates for the fall all over the country. We’re even thinking about a virtual homecoming. In the future, we could also launch some type of virtual namings, which is most exciting.

Culture of Engagement
In closing, Vice President Mitchell stated that he would like to talk about Committee Chair Zucker who has provided extraordinary leadership with this committee and continues to be a champion for the University of Florida. It’s her vision and inspiration that we follow on a daily basis, and I talk with her once a week.

Over the last few months, we’ve been playing defense, and everyone knows that you can win championships with defense. But now that we’re in the process of stopping COVID, we’re moving to offense. You heard Provost Glover talk about A.I. and what that means to the university. I hope that we can put more points on the board as we move closer to the $3 billion number. This will be an exciting and wonderful year for the University of Florida.

5.0 New Business
Committee Chair Zucker thanked Vice President Mitchell for a great report. She remarked that when we began this campaign and took it public, we had our beautiful alum singing about rising up and that we are continuing to rise up. We’re all amazing, and she is proud of us. She thanked Dean Kraft for his years and years of service and wished him a wonderful retirement and also thanked Trustee Heavener for everything he has done. We’ll continue to move up in the rankings and continue to do everything we can to the best of our abilities. She asked if anyone had questions or new business, and there were none.

Board Chair Hosseini thanked Dean Kraft for all of his good work and said that it was good to see Trustee Heavener via Zoom.

The Committee considered the following Action Items:

4.0 Action Items
FSPPM1: Preliminary Operating Budget FY21
Committee Chair Kuntz called on Assistant Vice President George Kolb, who gave an overview of the action item. He explained that the budget being presented only includes UF, UAA, and Faculty Practice and indicated that approval of the preliminary budget was required to be submitted to BOG by July 1, 2020. AVP Kolb noted that there is a lot of uncertainty in the numbers, and that fourth quarter numbers are estimated and used to make annual projections. There was a conversation about State Appropriations and Patient Service Revenue, in which AVP Kolb explained that updates are still being made and numbers would likely change. Committee Chair Kuntz questioned whether the numbers/final budget would be presented to the Board again and suggested the need for another look. AVP Kolb explained that the approved preliminary budget will be presented to BOG, then at the next Board of Trustees meeting, the entire enterprise budget would be presented to the Board for approval.

The Committee Chair asked for a motion to approve Action Item FSPPM1 which was made by Trustee O’Keefe, and a second, which was made by Trustee Powers for recommendation to the Board for its approval on the Consent Agenda. The Committee Chair asked for further discussion and asked for all in favor of the motion and any opposed and the motion was approved unanimously.

FSPPM2: Estimated DSO Use of University Resources for FY21
Committee Chair Kuntz asked Assistant Vice President Alan West to provide an overview of the action item. AVP West explained that the action item is in response to a comment from the Auditor General and briefly went over recent changes to the report including adding a row showing the main source of funds for reimbursements and another showing travel expenses paid using state funds. Committee Chair Kuntz noted that the University is in compliance with state regulations.

The Committee Chair asked for a motion to approve Action Item FSPPM2 which was made by Trustee Hosseini, and a second, which was made by Trustee O’Keefe for recommendation to the Board for its approval on the Consent Agenda. The Committee Chair asked for further discussion and asked for all in favor of the motion and any opposed and the motion was approved unanimously.

The following Discussion/Informational Items were the addressed by the Committee:
5.0 Discussion
5.1 UFICO Update
Committee Chair Kuntz began the discussion by introducing Bill Reeser from UFICO. Mr. Reeser gave an update on the performance of UF’s endowment and operating portfolios. He indicated that as of April 30, UF’s endowment pool is in approximately the same place as it was 12 months ago and the fiscal year ending balance will likely be close to the value at the beginning of the fiscal year. He then moved on to the operating portfolio, explain that despite volatility, return on these funds is positive. He stated that as of May 31, 2020 this portfolio has a 2% FYTD return. Additionally, Mr. Reeser noted that this portfolio is operating with a high level of liquidity and safety. Committee Chair Kuntz asked for questions, and complimented Mr. Reeser and UFICO on their ongoing collaboration and outreach with the University.

5.2 UFF Spend Distribution
Committee Chair Kuntz introduced Vice President Tom Mitchell, who provided a brief overview of the UFF Spend Distribution discussion. He explained that 99.5% of the endowment is designated by donors for restricted purposes and that the largest portion of the payout to the University, around 35%, goes towards faculty and staff support followed by student support at 26%. Vice President Mitchell then introduced Bill Reeser from UFICO to discuss investment returns. Mr. Reeser explained UFICO does a deep dive annually into UFF endowment portfolio, and that 10-year investment returns were 7.9%. He indicated that the endowment outperformed the 60/40 and CPI benchmarks while assuming 30% less risk and noted that FY20-21 projections show an estimated value of $1.70B. Following Mr. Reeser’s presentation, David Christie from Advancement discussed UFF’s market value based spend policy. He explained that the University’s policy adjusts automatically every quarter, payout is 4% of spending base (85% to 95% of market value), and that payouts are suspended if market value drops to 70% of gift value. He indicated that the policy is both conservative and timely, and that the FY21 payout for individual endowments is projected to decrease 3-8% from FY20. Committee Chair Kuntz mentioned the importance of the Board understanding the spend policy and reiterated that almost all payouts are restricted by donors. Trustee O’Keefe questioned whether the spend goes to faculty and staff support, and VP Mitchell confirmed that it does in the way of endowed chairs and similar.

5.3 Faculty Hiring Report
Vice President Jodi Gentry began the discussion by providing a brief overview of the Faculty Hiring Report. She stated that there was not much activity during the spring semester and as of Fall, the student to faculty ratio is at 17:1. Vice President Gentry explained that the University has hired a total of 445 net new faculty under the Faculty 500 initiative and reminded the Board that the University had actually offered and filled 509 positions. Committee Chair Kuntz questioned whether the new Artificial Intelligence initiative (which includes adding 100 new AI faculty) should be added to the Faculty 500. In response to Committee Chair Kuntz’ question, Board Chair Hosseini gave a brief history of the Faculty 500 initiative and explained that the university is still not where it needs to be. He suggested that UF continue to hire the best of the best in order to reach 500 net new hires and a student to faculty ratio of 16:1. Additionally Board Chair Hosseini suggested that an Artificial Intelligence initiative to add 100 net new AI faculty be separate from the Faculty 500, and that the Board would vote on this at the next Board meeting. Committee Chair Kuntz indicated that Provost Glover and Vice President Gentry would present the AI initiative at the next meeting. Vice President Gentry mentioned that the university is currently recruiting over 300 faculty and that she looks forward to presenting new information at the next meeting.

Following the Faculty Hiring Report discussion, Committee Chair Kuntz asked Provost Glover to discuss recent performance metrics. Provost Glover gave an overview of the University’s performance metrics explaining that UF had exceeded most goals but fell short of a few. He explained that UF achieved an 88.4% 6-year graduation rate instead of the 90% goal set. Board Chair Hosseini suggested that Vice Chair Kuntz have a conversation with the BOG Chairman regarding the metric and UF’s point proposal. Provost Glover indicated that if a new metric is needed that he would provide options for the Board to consider.

5.4 Quarterly Financials
Due to time constraints, this item was not discussed. Committee Chair Kuntz asked that the Board review the information provided and reach out to Assistant Vice President Alan West and Assistant Vice President George Kolb with any questions. He also noted that the University was currently searching for a new Vice President and Chief Financial Officer.

We are also on the verge of launching an Artificial Intelligence (AI) initiative that will place UF in a leadership position among all universities. He thanked everyone for their efforts as we are also a national leader restoring UF’s campus to full capacity including scholarship, education, and engagement.

Board Chair Hosseini expressed his gratitude to all. He reiterated his goal to reopen to students in the fall. Board Chair Hosseini said the Board believes President Fuchs and leadership are doing everything to protect our students, faculty, and staff. We need to take our University forward.
